RECREATION NOTES.

The V.R.C. annual meeting takes place this evening at 5.30, and as I hear there are several interesting questions to be raised by members, the meeting promises to be a lively one. In the continued absence of Captain Hastings, and the resignation of the Acting Chairman, Mr. E. D. Sanders, a change in the Chairmanship must be made, and there is a strong desire among the members who interest themselves in the management of the Club to elect the Hon. H. E. Pollock, K.C., to the position. If Mr. Pollock is willing to accept it, the Club will find him an excellent aid in the arrangements to be made for the new club on the new site. There will also be some changes in the Committee.

A good deal of ink has been wasted over the boys and the bar at the V.R.C. As a regular frequenter of the Club, I must say that exaggerated statements have got into the newspapers on this subject. The youthful members of the Club are not the principal supporters of the bar. They are the only members who keep the sports spirit of the Club, and if they do have a drink after rowing, swimming, or gymnastics, it is usually an innocuous "squash" or "gin sling." There are others who seem to regard the Club more as a Social Club than as a sporting rendezvous. These members are useful in their way, especially when the hat goes round for prizes, but they could be better spared than those who maintain the legitimate objects of the V.R.C. There can be no member of doubt that sports want a flip in Hongkong just now, and it would be forthcoming if the youth of the Colony exhibited more of these characteristics which knit the youth of the Old Country together. There is, in my opinion, no doubt about it, as suggested by a correspondent a few days ago, that sobriety in the prevailing disease in Hongkong, and it is the division of the young men (and some of the old ones, too) into exclusive cliques that is doing more to harm than it is a wonder to me that some of them bathe in the same ocean—that they don't get an ocean to themselves.

Water Polo is still the favourite sport, and the V.R.C. representatives are training for the hard test they anticipate in the forthcoming Shield competition. The teams selected are as below—

A TEAM.	W. A. TEAM.
A. A. Alva	W. A. Stogart
A. Loureiro	J. Miller
H. A. Lamont	R. Henderson
J. H. R. Hume	F. M. Rosa Pereira
F. K. T. T.	L. E. Lamont
C. M. S. Alves	E. W. Carpenter
M. S. Koon	F. J. V. Jorge, Jun.
A. M. M. (Reserve)	H. A. Soth (Reserve)
G. H. Rubie	H. M. Bain
W. Crake	C. Humphreys
W. E. Ellis	F. E. Ellis

Next to Water Polo comes Bowling. There seems to be a revival of this ancient game (it is not "royal and ancient" like golf), and competitions are now in progress in Singapore, Hongkong and Shanghai. The Hongkong and Shanghai Bank mess and a few friends have taken to the game like a duck to the water, and some exciting games are played nightly in the Bank Gardens on the Recreation. A little bird whispers to me that the bankers mean to challenge the Kowloon Bowling Green Club. If this is so, I don't think the Kowloonites will be at all backward in accepting the challenge. A couple of matches on the respective greens would create a spirit of healthy rivalry. For the sake of the game, I hope the matches will take place.

'Geordie' writes to me respecting the fourth paragraph of my last week's notes:—The bowl mentioned there is really a stone ball, slightly smaller than a cricket ball, and is commonly used by the Northumbrian miners. It may be seen even in these days, when they occasionally compete. "Ball" can easily be converted into "Bowl" in the broad Northumbrian dialect. The miners' method of bowling is by a jerk from the right hip, as you often see a cricket ball jerked instead of thrown. By practice on a good road, these miners have often thrown or jerked the ball 150 to 200 yards, and the record is, I believe, over 200 yards. I am indebted to 'Geordie' for the information, and hope to have other contributions from his store of "local and general" knowledge. Can he tell me, for instance, when lawn bowls were first introduced to the Far East?

Yorkshire continues to hold the place of honour in the County Cricket Championship. It was a marvellous performance of Rhodes and Haigh to get rid of a strong "batting side like Norths for 13 runs—22 of the bat. The actual record for any first class match is 12 by Oxford against M.C.C. and Oxford in 1877, but Oxford had some assistance.

The following is the record compiled to 19th June:
